A DAY OF GREAT EXCITEMENT OVER THE OMNIBUS CHARTER.

Republicans Twice Compelling on Adjourn ment Rather than Risk a Vote-Old Satt Spenking Right Out in Meeting-Rumors of $30,000 Placed to Influence Legislation.

Albany, May 2.—The excitement that prevaled when the House adjourned last evening did not wear off in the night, but rather increased. Until long after midnight excited groups of members ciustered at the bar and in the lobbies of the Delayan House discussing the situation. The party leaders were busy laboring with those who had shown signs of weakening, and the missionaries from New York were equally vigilant in their efforts to stiffen the backbone of their converts. The lobby, too, were equally vigilant in their efforts to stiffen the defeat of the Omnibus Chira the defeat of the Omnibus Chira the defeat of the Commissioner of Jurors and Coroners' bills. To-night the factions are hard at work drumming up recruits and getting ready for to-morrow's decisive battle. By that time it is expected that all the Republican members, "recreant, and otherwise, will have been brought to the front. The opponents of the Omnibus bill are very confident to-night. The proceedings of last night and to-day, they say, have demoralized the Republicans, and they confidently predict the defeat of the bill. Its friends, however, still insist that they will get votes enough to pass it.

Considering the size of the pending contracts, it is not strange that the Ring makes a last effort to get its grip on them. The bids are for thry thousand square yards of concrete, ten inches deep; thirty-four thousand, six inches deep; twenty-six thousand, re-surfacing of an inch and a half; and sixteen thousand square yards of stone pavement. Opposition to Hayes's Policy in the Senate Less

It may be that a knowledge of this fact, and others of a like nature, has led Blaine to say that he was not looking forward to a direct attack on the Administration, and it should be remembered that none is needed, as Kellogg's admission brings up the question indirectly. As to the phase which the Southern question is to assume in the next House, Hayes said to day to a friend that he really had never expected that Democrats would cease to net as Democrats, nor that his policy would bear early and immediate fout in the organization of the House. It is curious what a complete misupprehension of Hayes's purpose John D. Defrees and some other men who have been working like beavers to pick up a few stray votes have had.

Narrow Escape from a Terrible Disaster— Attempt of Two Scoundrels to Wreek a Train on the New Jersey Central Railrond. Train on the New Jersey Central Railroad.

While the train from Philadelphia on the New Jersey Central Railroad, due in New York at 144 P. M. yesterday, was nearing the depot at Communipaw two men jumped upon the baggage car next to the engine, and unsercewed the hose which connects the engineer's can with the air brakes, and then jumped off. The train did not slow when the air brakes were applied. The engineer shut down all steam, but the train thundered into the depot at a fearful rate. The engineer and firemes saw the water directly in front of them, and thought a plunge into the river inevitable. Fortunately the lumber at the end of the track proved heavy enough to stop the speed of the train to such an extent that it prevented the speed of the train to such an extent that it prevented the engine from running further than the edge of the pier. A party headed by Detective Kilcauley started in pursuit of the men who attempted to wreck the train. The men were captured and taken to Police Headquarters in Jersey City, where they described themselves as Lewis Fox and Charles Williams, tinsmiths of New York. They were
